OtheReality
When Other's reality becomes yours

Leveraging VR to Boost Empathy, Diversity & Inclusion and to establish a Healthier & Wealthier Organization

OtheReality takes advantage of VR technology's most compelling feature – the ability to foster empathy by allowing the user to 'walk a mile' in someone else's shoes. Our solutions' innovative use of short VR "point-of-view" clips, creates a powerful psychological impact, allowing the viewer to empathize with the other side in numerous situations and environments.

OtheReality speaks the language of the digital generation. We offer our customers a deeper understanding of the Other's point of view through a unique and immersive experience. Such a powerful experience allows the end users - corporate employees & managers, academia staff, or high-school students - drive productive and effective communication while reducing counterproductive behaviors.

OtheReality's complete package includes VR experience followed by onsite or online workshops and digital training applications. Such a package serves as an effective tool that improves workplace culture, supports diversity & inclusion in different contexts, and as an efficient instructional method in life-skill classes in the education system.

OtheReality's flexible learning modules address the varying needs of various market segments:

For Workplaces: Promoting an equal, diverse, and respectful culture that maximizes workforce potential and productivity. Improving leadership skills, eradicating sexual harassment, fostering teamwork, and more robust organizational interfaces.

For Academia: Allowing academia administrative staff, students, and professors to develop sensitivity to Diversity & Inclusion and to foster a safer environment for all.

For Schools and Education Systems: Preventing bullying and shaming on social networks, allowing educators to employ innovative tools in social skills classes and to empower students.
